

3 Solutions That Will Transform Your Real Estate Operations

We work with a lot of businesses in many different industries. Over time, we see patterns emerge, common ailments that plague businesses of all types.

The real estate industry has its own unique and interesting challenges. Here we have three solutions that can make an immediate, significant impact on your daily operations. They will save your teams time and pay for themselves.

Streamline Print Tracking and Billing

"HOW DID WE SPEND THIS MUCH ON PRINTING?"

Does your company monitor printing costs for each agent? For most real estate firms, the answer is either not well or not at all. Printing costs are a significant expense across the industry as agents print listing fliers and other collateral on a regular basis. If your team still uses clipboards and spreadsheets to track printing activities, it's time for an upgrade.

Bill-back solutions from UBEO automate the print tracking and user billing process. You can link accounting data back to individual users or larger departments. Our solutions are flexible, allowing you to review internal print jobs and charge agents individually for their usage. You can even adapt system functionality to meet your desired configuration and billing policy.

Our system also integrates with various third-party legal and accounting systems, so you don't even need to change your existing setup to start feeding data through. Our solutions can also integrate with Active Directory, further automating the deployment process. Automated tracking and billing can help your organization recoup costs, simplify billing processes, and manage ongoing activities through an easy-to-use system.

Automate Print Driver Installations

"I GOT A NEW COMPUTER. WILL YOU INSTALL ALL MY PRINTER DRIVERS AGAIN? I HAVE AN OPEN HOUSE IN AN HOUR..."

How frustrating is it for IT to manage printer driver installations? Many firms have multiple locations and hundreds or even thousands of agents. Managing print drivers can easily be a full-time job, especially if your firm has a bring-your-own-device policy in place.

Some firms try "automating" this process by sharing how-to guides placing the responsibility for driver installation on the user. This approach may sound great in theory, but it usually doesn't turn out well in practice. In fact, it typically creates more work for your IT teams than it would to simply install the driver themselves. Print policies are tough to enforce with a user-led process.

Wouldn't it be great if an authorized user could enter a location, log onto the secure network, and install local printers onto their device automatically?

Our solutions can support a fully automated driver install process that initiates each time an authorized user logs onto your network. If you are not a fan of that option, we can also set up a system that sends your users to a web-page with the correct driver for their device and step-by-step installation videos to guide them through the install process.

Simplify Your Onboarding Process

"WHY DOES OUR ONBOARDING PROCESS TAKE SO LONG? DO WE REALLY NEED TO INVOLVE THIS MANY TEAM MEMBERS?"

Automation can build new efficiencies into your onboarding workflows from the applications phase to day one on the job. Collect, process, and file application or onboarding paperwork with the click of a button or send your HR teams automated hiring updates from your Applicant Tracking System (ATS).

With Business Process Automation, you also gain visibility and accountability into the entire onboarding process. For example, any leader or authorized user can see what stage a new team member is at in the onboarding process and resolve any roadblocks that may slow down their progress. The system also provides a historical record of the process that your teams can reference later if needed.

UBEO's Business Process Automation solutions help organizations automate a variety of core internal processes and workflows. When implemented correctly, these automated systems free up resources that spend a significant amount of time on repetitive tasks each day. Automation can be a scary word for many, but your typical workers stand to benefit the most from business process automation.

UBEO can automate critical business processes with zero disruption to your operations. Not only will these systems have a significant impact on your operations, but they are also very affordable.

Ready to see our solutions in action?

Reach out to the UBEQ team to learn more about these simple solutions!

Call 1.888.201.8431 or visit ubeo.com/contact-re